NEWS FOR KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Reflection: You, God and the Pandemic

What are we to do when we can't understand God's plan? The answer is to focus on the next step – just the next step.

In the Gospel for this Sunday, we encounter the story of the two disciples on the road to Emmaus. It provides a lesson for us, one that is especially helpful in these times. The lesson is this: God works in a way that we cannot always see. Only later – when we look back – do we recognize what he has been doing.

This time of pandemic is such a moment. It is hard to see what God's plan is in the midst of these trials. Like the disciples on the road to Emmaus, we may be discouraged and perplexed, we may be anxious and fearful, because we do not understand why he is allowing this. We do not see how a global pandemic could fit into the plans of a good and gracious Lord.

But one thing we do know: God is active in our lives, and he is even now walking next to us. We are not alone. READ MORE

K of C employee saves lives with 3D printing

Jim Wadle, manager of Production Applications Support and Services at the Knight of Columbus Supreme Council headquarters, has turned his hobby into a lifesaving measure in service to Connecticut hospital workers.

It began on March 31, when Jim's wife, Sarah, spotted an Essex Library Facebook post stating UConn Health was looking for area hobbyists who have 3D printers. More specifically, they needed 3D printers capable of using 1.75mm PLA media to help print mask adapters for hospital staff working with infected COVID-19 patients.

Knowing her husband had a 3D printer, she immediately shared the information with him.

Jim, who purchased his 3D printer about two years ago as a hobby, is a self-described "tinkerer by nature." Once he got the news from Sarah, he wasted no time. READ MORE
